Janice Johnston mixed media & water colours

Curiosity, experimentation, a sense of playfulness, and a need for free expression are keys to Janice's artistic journey. Janice will discuss her evolution as an artist from primary school through her academic life to integration of lessons from subsequent art workshops. There have been several formative events on the pathway such as raising horses during adolescence; discovering that there were principles of design during a university program in Household Science; living in Nigeria for 2 years; painting in watercolours the first time. Janice will share some of her lessons learned, with examples to illustrate, including her artist journal from a recent painting trip to Provence.

Janice is a member of several local art organizations including Ottawa Mixed Media Artists and has a Member Gallery link at omma.co. Her work is regularly shown on the Red Trillium Studio Tour and at Expressions of Art, as well as OMMA shows and through the Kanata Art Club.
